

Dear Bravo!

Our Yellow Labrador Tyler constantly licked at his foreleg until it was always a beet red color. This problem had continued for several years. Each year during his well dog visits to the vet, we would ask about what could be done.

We tried different brands of dry food and many different therapeutic shampoos to resolve the problem. We also tried a number of supplements and oils to help solve the problem.

Finally, after hearing about Bravo! Raw Diet and how it can sometimes help dogs with food allergy reactions, we tried it.

After just two months on Bravo!, Tyler had stopped licking and the foreleg was back to normal.

He has now been on Bravo! for approximately six months and is doing great.

See the before and after photos below.

Thanks!
